

Race Against Time

“Kip, quick, let’s run. We are running out of time,” said Pip. “Race you back to the jeep,” said Pip with a grin.

Race Against Time

Crash! Bang! Up high, thunder cracks like a whip. Lightning flashes behind them. The clouds are getting dark. Kip yelps with fear. Pip jumps with fright.

Race Against Time

“A big thunderstorm is on the way!” yells Pip. This is a race against time for the both of them. Can they make it back to the jeep before the storm strikes?

Race Against Time

Pip wants to take a short-cut out of the rainforest. Kip sniffs the air. Kip shakes his head. Instead, Kip leads Pip down a new rainforest track.

Race Against Time

“This storm is not nice,” said Pip. Kip nods. He runs fast. Pip follows close behind. A thin, green snake rattles and quivers in the grass nearby. Pip shivers. They run faster and faster.

“Perhaps, we should have taken the other track back,” said Pip. Pip thinks that they might be lost now. “Where are you going?” said Pip. They see a mudslide up ahead...

Race Against Time

Kip dives down the mud. Pip follows. The pair slide out of the rainforest. They land with a bump, right next to the jeep. Just in time, before the thunderstorm strikes.
