

A Nicer Baker

Today, Sam, Pip and Jan are trying to find a birthday cake for their friend Pat. “Pat’s birthday is tomorrow and we need to find the perfect birthday cake!” said Pip.

A Nicer Baker

Inside the mall, the girls check the store directory to find out where the cake shop is. “Is it the bakery or the cakery?” asks Jan.

A Nicer Baker

“The cakery is where we need to go,” said Pip. “The cakery has the most beautiful birthday cakes,” said Sam.

A Nicer Baker

When the girls arrive at the cakery store, the door is shut and a sign is up. “The shop is closed!” said Jan. “What will do now?” said Pip.

A Nicer Baker

“We are running out of time,” said Sam. “We should have come earlier,” said Pip. “How about we try the old bakery, at the far end of the mall,” said Jan. “It’s worth a try,” said Sam.

A Nicer Baker

A Nicer Baker

When the girls get to the bakery, the old baker welcomes them in. “How can I help you?” he asks. “We need a birthday cake for our friend,” said Jan.

A Nicer Baker

“I have one beautiful, chocolate cake left. Let’s put some candles and birthday sprinkles on top,” he said. “Perfect, thank you,” said Sam. As the girls left the store, Jan said to Pip and Sam, “He could not have been a nicer baker.” “The nicest baker ever,” they nodded together.

A Nicer Baker

A Nicer Baker